Abstract—Creating chips and devices had been our norm as humans in the field of technology. As we grow more towards the holistic way towards human well-being, we have flux devices which are created in many different frequencies resonating with human body, mind & emotion which directly change realities—a human naturally needs to be so as to heighten the level of intelligence blossoming in a human so that instead you being taken over by your body, mind and emotion, you can take charge over them and use them as per needs.

INTRODUCTION:

As we all know everything is energy. The cells of the human body are not really cells to look at, they are being designed that way in the cosmos with a specific vibration in it, where the inner sound is never disturbed whereas the outer sound takes blow and hit and may vary in shapes and dimensions. If the blow is bigger than the true vibration itself, the body may damage itself. The cells are the molecular design of the play of atoms. The atoms are the proton, electron & neutron which are fundamentally energy in its essence. So, giving medications to relieve the pain in just physical level will not do the job unless the root frequency of the chip or a structure vibrating at natural Quantum states of a human can be introduced for the system. Every cell is going through regeneration within weeks but why the cells of the body creating the disease could not be able to regenerate is the only question among health experts. Where there are gross frequencies exhibiting in the body there is the disease because for the human body to function, it needs certain specific frequencies. Quantum scientists are saying the human body needs 3hz-70hz-90hz in different levels for the system to work at its best. Numbers are already magical. In fact, if you are in tune with existence everything is magical you know the way it is. Otherwise you know it the way mind interprets it, that is because every single thing that exists reflects parts of cosmic energy that makes the whole universe go round. So do numbers. Each and every number of frequencies has specific meaning to it so do the forms they create. There are methods to work with different numbers as in how they would work in the system inside and outside the whole universe. Some frequencies are opening up certain portals in the human system to heal from within, some are working for preparing the system to break certain gross vibrations in the body and some yet are working to keep the system still and perceptive, as the way Creator had designed us with.

METHODOLOGY:

The Sunya system has been preparing humans as per requisites because for the Sunya system to implement in the society, we need people who are life sensitive not ego sensitive. Sunya is networking in 5D humanitarian projects which are working as a mass of different formulations not just a single formula per se. We are waiting for people who would be interested in studying human mechanics and also to work in a large scale we need people co-operating for the cause because it would demand commodities, ingredients and also finances on larger scale. Netherveless, talking about the methods for creating a device will not be enough with just chalks and pencils, you need to live it. However, to put it simply what we are creating is devices resonating frequencies in the system. As the frequencies would work on the system, because the system is also made of such frequencies, they can literally change the realities, dimensions in consciousness. There would be change in the body and mind to have access into the self because now they are vibrating in that higher levels of perception. The devices are connected with the bio-energy of the human system, unless the system would experience certain stillness inside, the devices can not be switched on to release lighter and higher dimensions of frequencies but to work on 3D based experience we are keeping it ON with just normal wiring as we can see with our day-today technologies. The devices are controlled by your thought reverberations, just a simple thought would be enough to work on the device but the Sunya doctors have to work on themselves for that before things would work for them, because only at certain level of Gamma waves -the brain would be exhibiting, the devices would start working for them and as we know Gamma waves are happening only in the no-mind state. So, the sunya system is working in many levels so as to push human perception beyond science what we as humans perceive science. Humans got to establish themselves first, only then certain technologies can be made public or else it would simply not work. Also, it has to be with the potency of inclusiveness. Only when you would include someone as part of you, as an extension of yourself, you would not have to say I love you. Because inclusiveness is the nature of existence, if you learn to be inclusiveness imitating Nature itself, anyway the devices would work for you not against you. Because these are different frequencies in this human system which we could make use of to move higher. If Just a simple thought of diabetes in the mind can create those frequencies in your system, these devices can detect those frequencies and alter its potency automatically as is been intended to and it can also be altered to a whole new level of frequency. Just a simple device can project the reality in your mind so as the body would follow.

SIGNIFICANCE:

The devices would be much needed in the coming years when different new technologies are coming forth with the changes of earth's vibration. The modern medicine has to evolve beyond the normal perception, it has to work with Quantum physics, there is no other way. At the same time, the 3D structures would be working in their own place. Nothing would really be ignored infect. As there are higher dimensions in this cosmos, so are there lower dimensions. So we would need technologies of all kinds because dimensions are not just some physical realms, these are frequencies we as humans are vibrating all the time. So we would need different approach so as to work on the health system. Combination of all with needed changes would definitely provide us good health instead of approaching health system as just One way. Because the cosmos is full of laws and disciplines which are even more illogical to look at- our logical mind would never get that. Only solution is dissolution-to be one with it.
