Abstract: What we call as the solid-state is no different from its gaseous state, just the loosening of its integrity in the molecular level is what we call it as. Evidence-based science is what we see, hear, smell or on the whole that which is perceived by our sense organs. But, what we can not see can be engineered technologically if we are ready to observe things the way it is. When we talk about Shoonya, we are talking about a dimension that which is the prime state of all-pervading. So, any medicine transforming their states, can we transform them into Shoonya through modern technologies. That which is in tune with the existence, can not be ignored. So, the moment we talk about the neutralisation of an object, it is the form of highest nature, one can perceive within themselves, where there is no positive or negative push and pull. When the magnetic and the gravitational forces are neutralised, there can not be any friction as such and thus can not be any creation of any nature. If creation has to happen, the forces have to be non aligning for the forces to create frequencies of regular and irregular nature of existence. One is creation, and the other is happening out of non-creation, not because it is not moving, its movement can humans hardly perceive. It does not mean it does not exist. It does but for that to happen in our regular perception, we need to tap dimensions within us which is regulated by subtler dimensions of energies, we call it Shoonya. Thus the approach to human mechanics changes in here. Because the subtler laws are changing here in both the forums of medicine but the medications are not necessarily changing if we know how to use and where. If we know the proper place to hit, the side effects would also be negligible because it is creating a 'Zero-energy vortex' in the medication and around it. So the intended destination can be reached with total fulfilment of the apparent doctor. So, the science is Shoonya, but medications can be well-intended with whatever the doctor prescribes in here with subsequent aphorism and philosophies one directs to.

1. INTRODUCTION

Mathematics comes from direct human perception not because we perceived, it exists, but because it is mathematically and geometrically coherent, can we perceive it, if the process of entanglement is complete. So, if we talk about medical science, it should not be devastated by limited human perception, but must be formulated and backed up by technologies. We must know- first we perceive, then it is being written in books, not the other way round. Because medical science is the only sense established facts, we are trying to spontaneously ignore the truths. Facts lead you to the truth. But medical facts may not be discerning the truth here. So side effects and wrong diagnosis are on footslog. Not that allopathy medications are wrongful, or have severe side effects, what we mean to say here is, if we direct these same medications with necessary consciousness not only driven by sense based but also if we know Shoonya science of this human mechanics and the Quantum laws, we can see Shoonya with allopathy are a feat.

2. METHODOLOGY

Shoonya is full of subtler energies, one can hardly perceive if the human system is not ready to recognize. The name Shoonya is coming because it is the ether technology of the unknown realms of nature. It is unknown because our devices and technologies conk out to receive such downloads and codes but with the progress of teleportation devices, system of human teleportation, interstellar travelling etc, we can definitely outgo medical science one step at a time.

3. SIGNIFICANCE

SHOONYA Medical Science is perceived and then experimented and the result is stunning. All the Shoonya white papers are documented with numerous formulas, as to how Shoonya works. Because humans think complex, we have managed to perceive the common theorems of this human nature. Not only that but also we have been derogatorily managing one science belief over the other. Here, now, medical science has become a giant log of beliefs and psychological realities than the necessary facts. So, Shoonya is taking the privilege of saving humanity from all the negative platforms just by the push button in the coming years, shifting realities to merging realities and transforming realities, which is of the Quantum world.
